

RABID PRINCE

Recipe

Hook.....Nymph, size 10

Thread.....Tan/Brown, 6/0 or 8/0

Head.....Gold bead

Weight.....Sm/Med lead wire (optional)

Tail.....Hares Ear guard hairs topped with split Black Goose Biots

Body.....Hares Ear dubbing

Wing.....White Goose Biots

Collar.....Tan and Dark Brown Zonker fur

1. Crush barb on hook and position bead on hook.
2. Take the lead wire and make 4-5 wraps behind bead. Trim off excess lead and then push lead forward tightly into back of bead.
3. Tie in thread behind lead and make several tight wraps of thread behind lead to hold it in place. Wrap the thread back to the bend in the hook.
4. Take a small bunch of hares ear fur with the guard hairs intact and place it in a hair stacker. After the hair tips are evened, tie the hair down as a tail extending approximately 1/8" past the hook bend. Bind down the butt end of the fur along the hook shank then wrap the thread back to the tail.
5. On top of this fur tail, take the black goose biots and tie in a split tail with the tips of the biots extending just past the fur tail. Trim the excess biots and wrap the thread back to the tail.
6. Dub a tight body tapered from tail to slightly behind the bead head.

7. Now take two white goose biots and tie a split wing on top of the fly at the end of the body. The wing tips should extend back to the end of the body. Trim the biot butts.
8. With the wing tied in, form a dubbing loop. Take a 1" section of tan zonker strip and place the fur in the dubbing loop and trim off the skin. Twist the dubbing loop to form a fur "hackle" and wrap it twice around the hook behind the bead head and tie it off. Trim the excess loop.
9. Now form a second dubbing loop using the dark brown fur and take one and a half turns tightly behind the bead head. Tie off the loop and trim the excess.
10. At this point, the fur collar will look unruly. Using your fingertips (a little water helps too!) stroke the fur back toward the tail training it into a swept back look around the hook shank. Once you are happy with the appearance of the collar, take a few thread wraps behind the bead head to hold everything in place. Whip finish and trim off the thread.
